

It's over

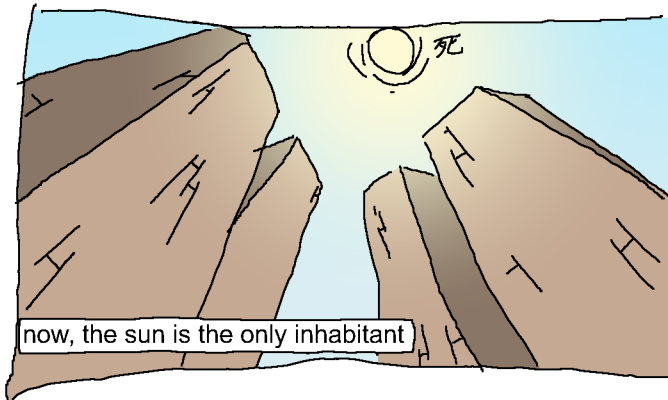

hardly anyone comes here anymore

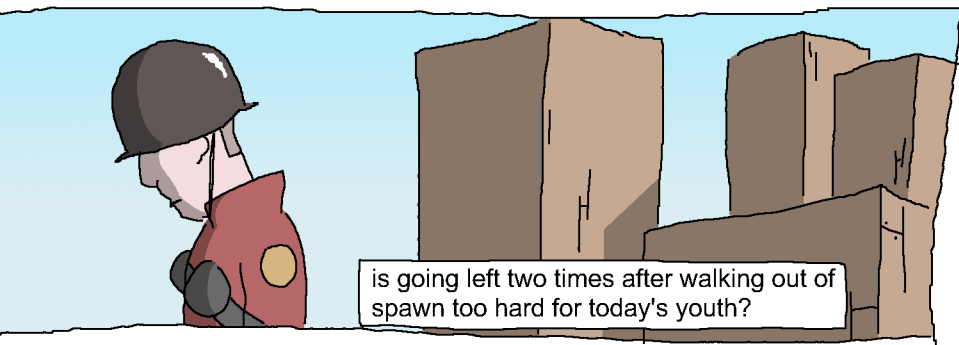

I wonder if waiting still has a meaning

before, this world was full of life

now, the sun is the only inhabitant is going left two times after walking out of spawn too hard for today's youth?

MODS, MODS

SHOW YOURSELVES FOR ONCE

DON'T LEAVE US IN THIS INFINITE LIMBO

don't shout in #relay, my dude

we'll see each other again, you sons of bitches

p.s. this whole thing is a joke and wasn't meant to come out so seriously don't really have any motivation left in me to finish this thing, so I'll just put it up like that. sorry for the couple of people not having their unusualls. also do cringe, that's basically the feeling I was looking for.

it's also worth noting that mga is not dead per se, since as of writing the mgatf.org (prev. bootcamp) servers are still running (I wish the best to them) and some people occasionally join the JA arena (not many, but this may simply be a EU problem). It was funnier to make it look like it was a true death (though the gamemode being alive is quite debatable).

will prob. take a long break unless something insane happens or the itch to shovel people reappears again. o7
